
Each site is normalized to its own label distribution. The local port zeros differ; these scores do not test cross-site transfer or absolute vertical agreement.