Observed and estimated depth at held-out coastal cells

The residual is prediction minus survey z; positive values are less negative than the survey. Each site uses a separate local zero and colour range. Points are not interpolated to a continuous surface.